ALLEGED POLITICS INFLUENCE THE MAKING OF LOANS

Senator Reed Places Several Names in Hands of Authorities

ONE IN PHILA. AREA

Others Are Named in Various Sections of The State

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—(INS)—Three instances of alleged Home Owners Loan Corporation recognition of political influence were in the hands of Chairman John H. Fahey today after being turned over to him by Senator David A. Reed (R) of Pennsylvania for investigation.

Fahey promised to investigate any specific complaint.

One was an affidavit from Phil S. Barton (6117 De Lancey St.) Philadelphia, stating that he was questioned about his politics on March 12 when he applied for a loan, and after he inadvertently named the Republican ward chairman as his political leader, he received no loan, it was stated at Reed's office. Barton had told the loan office that he was a democrat.

Names of persons in Northampton County were given by Reed's office in an effort to show that loans were made in South Bethlehem in an effort to build up Democratic strength.

Several instances in Beaver county supporting to show influence in fixing appraisals were also cited. Phillip A. Hamilton, lawyer and appraiser, was reported to have charged that his appraisals on several occasions were used for the benefit of a mortgage company, the head of which was the father-in-law of a HOLC subdivision manager.

Gunners Report Luck On Opening Day of Season

Gunners were out in force yesterday on the opening day of the gunning season for small game. Many reported having got their limit and were well pleased with the day's sports.

Some arrests were made for illegal poaching but the cases have not as yet come to trial.

The red fox shot by John Reichert, Ottsville, on the Ellersley farm, Bensalem Township, measured 38 inches from the tip of his tail to the tip of his nose. It is said that the fox had been in the vicinity for the past eight years.

A number of gunners were in pursuit of the fox when he was brought down by the gun of Reichert, who is the superintendent of the Prudential Insurance Company at Pottsville. Reichert yesterday was the guest of Edward Leister, Croydon.

Reichert and his friends held a celebration last night in honor of the bagging of the fox.

RIOTING IN COAL FIELDS

Wilkes-Barre, Nov. 2.—General rioting broke out in Nanticoke and Hanover townships today as the Susquehanna Colliery Company attempted to operate its No. 7 colliery in defiance of a strike called by the United Anthracite Miners of Pennsylvania, a new union. Clubs and iron bars were swung and heavy iron washers were hurled through the air as the insurgent pickets attempted to turn back workers affiliated with the United Mine Workers of America. The pickets, several thousand of whom gathered at 4 o'clock this morning, also attempted to close the operations at the Glen Alden Coal Company in this vicinity as a "sympathetic" move. No accurate estimate of the casualties was immediately available, although one man was reported to have been taken to a hospital.

What Bucks County Farmers Are Thinking

(By Special Correspondent)

Modern trends and developments in business and trade conditions have set off the farmers in the north-eastern section of the United States from those of the Middle-west and the South. Except in the most general terms their economic and political ideas differ because of the difference in fundamental conditions.

Eastern farmers have never joined in the farmer movements originating in the middle-west, such as the Granger movement of the 70's, the Populist up-rising of the 80's, nor the free-silver demand of the 90's. This is not because eastern farmers have not had their problems and difficulties, but because they did not see how the new plans would solve their troubles. In the present instance, this investigation shows again that the things attempted by the government to help farmers are not popular with Pennsylvania farmers.

During the past two weeks your correspondent has interviewed scores of farmers with a view of finding out how they looked upon the different agencies set up to solve the farm problem of low prices, and to learn whether or not the many costly activities carried on had benefitted them financially. Up to the present time, we have not found a single booster for the New Deal as it effects agriculture. Again, we see the fundamental difference between farmers here and in western sections.

In so far as the agricultural efforts of the government have had any effect on eastern farmers, the results have been harmful to them. With one accord they claim that the boosting of grain prices have harmed rather than helped them because eastern farmers buy more grain in the shape of feed than they sell.

One well-read farmer whose modesty prevents the use of his name entered quite fully into the historic attitude of the Democratic party towards agriculture. He said in substance: "The farm problem has been acute for 13 years. It did not begin in 1929 when the general business slump commenced, but it has its origin in 1921 when President Wilson officially deflated farm prices. The "high cost of living" which was the big cry at that time attracted Wilson's attention and he had the Attorney General examine the laws to see whether or not he had executive power to control prices.

"The Attorney General found a war-time measure which gave the President absolute power over food prices, based on the anti-hoarding act. He at once issued a threat which caused all processors to cease buying meat animals and grain, and this caused prices to fall 50 to 75 per cent over night. That was the beginning of the depression for farmers and it has continued ever since. If that is the attitude of Democratic leaders, I want none of them. As to the present activities, they are as disastrous to Bucks County farmers as was President Wilson's ukase in 1921."

Another farmer, a leader in Northampton Township, expressed concern over the tremendous debt which the New Deal is fastening upon us. He said that, while Bucks County People have been managing their County and personal affairs in an economical manner, they are having foisted upon them without their consent an immense debt—a debt that is just as real and calamitous as if they should sign a wholesale mortgage upon their property. Neither we nor our children will live long enough to see it all paid.

Theodore R. Gardner Is Candidate For Congress Seat

THEODORE R. GARDNER

Young Republicans, especially, will have a special interest in Theodore R. Gardner, the Republican candidate for Congress in the Bucks-Lehigh district, because at one time he was chairman of the Young Republican Committee of Lehigh County.

Mr. Gardner now is a lawyer, 31 years old, practicing in Allentown, and also U. S. Commissioner for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, so that he at present may be called one of the minor judiciary.

His early education was gained in the public schools, the Bethlehem Preparatory School and the Allentown High School from which he was graduated. In high school he was made life president of the graduating class.

Later at Muhlenberg College, of which he is a graduate, he was president of the freshman class. The last link in his formal education was at the Law School of the University of Pennsylvania. Then in October, 1931, he was named U. S. Commissioner.

For his years, the Congressional candidate has had rather broad experience, for previous to his work as a member of the Lehigh County Bar and the Supreme and Superior Courts, he was employed in the silk mills, the American Steel and Wire Company, the U. S. Post-office and various other businesses and industries through which he learned the workman's problems and interests—while he was earning his educational advantages.

Through his professional career he has had an additional opportunity to study the important interests of the working people and the business men, and professional workers.

His acquaintance with these problems and interests in a section of extremely varied activities gives him the kind of balance which eminently fit him for the Congressional office he seeks.

Mr. Gardner is married and has one son.

MARRIAGE LICENSE BUSINESS INCREASES

Shows An Improvement of More Than 25% This Year

238 LICENSES IN OCT.

DOYLESTOWN, Nov. 2.—So far this year the marriage license business in Bucks county has increased more than 25 percent over 1933, records in the office of the Clerk of Orphans' Court of Bucks County showed at the close of business last night.

During the month of October this year there were 238 licenses granted, an average of approximately 10 licenses a day for every working day of the month. A year ago in October only 144 licenses were granted.

"I cannot say whether more people are being married than ever before or whether more people are coming to Doylestown to get their licenses, but I think the latter is true," declared John Thompson, of Point Pleasant, Clerk of Orphans' Court, today. His deputy, Jacob Shelly, of Fountainville, is of the same opinion.

"Doylestown is just as well known as any center in the East for marriage licenses," declared Deputy Clerk Shelly, "and the town of Doylestown is fast increasing in popularity as a marrying center. There is no long wait for licenses granted here. Applicants are treated fine and they tell their friends, that's all there is to it."

The average age of the male applicants in October was twenty-nine years while the female applicants averaged twenty-five years.

Nine States were represented among the applications and the returns show that more than 60 percent of the weddings were performed by civil ceremony. Fifty-nine of the applicants came from the city of Trenton, and Philadelphia had more than seventy. Doylestown had ten, and Quakertown had six.

There were thirteen divorced persons, including eight men and five women, among the applicants. Seventy percent of the female applicants told the clerks they had occupations other than housework.

There was no great disparity in ages of the applicants in October. In fact, disparity in ages is fast disappearing. Five and eight years ago it was nothing unusual for a girl of twenty or twenty-one to marry a young man of thirty. Ages these days are closer together than ever before.

ROSLERUCIAN APPOINTMENT

EDDINGTON, Nov. 2.—The Roslerucians of this community will be represented in their extension activities by Veronica C. Winchester, Park Avenue. A certificate of appointment as commissioner has been received by Miss Winchester from the Headquarters of the Roslerucian Order (AMORC) in San Jose, Cal. "The California Headquarters of the organization is for the North American jurisdiction. Each country has its various sectional lodges, chapters, and extension commissioners," says Miss Winchester. "The duties of the commissioner of the Extension Department are varied. The commissioner is required to analyze the Roslerucian radio programs if and when broadcast over local stations. The commissioner donates his services and receives no compensation, for the Roslerucian Order is a fraternity devoted to dissemination of knowledge of the natural laws of life and the teachings of a philosophy. It is neither a commercial nor a religious organization. The local commissioner is expected by the Grand Lodge of the Order to urge all students and members in his community to attend the National Conventions of the Order which are held annually and which draw many hundreds from various countries."

THREE ARE KILLED IN BUCKS COUNTY WHILE GUNNING

Prominent Farmer Shot To Death As Companion Trips

BOY KILLED IN CAR

Another Member of A Gunning Party Killed in Hit-Run Crash

Three dead was the toll of small game hunting in Bucks County as the Pennsylvania gunning season got under way yesterday. Two of the victims were shot to death, while the third was killed in an automobile accident while returning home after a day in the fields.

The victims were: Ernest Delp, 41 years old, prominent farmer of Chalfont, near Doylestown.

Alfred Berner, 15 years old, of Springfield Township, Bucks County.

Bernard Cannon, Sr., 71 years old, of 2437 North 7th street, Philadelphia. Delp was fatally wounded while gunning with his brother and two other companions on the farm of Lewis S. Moyer, a short distance from Doylestown, just as the members of the party were about to start for their homes at about 2.30 o'clock. Albert Wink, of 5112 James street, Frankford, saw a rabbit spring from a hole, and with Delp he started after the game. Authorities were told that Wink slipped and fell and the contents of his double-barrel shotgun were fired into Delp's right hip.

Delp's brother, Howard, and Miles Tyson, both of Chalfont, summoned Moyer, who rushed the victim to the Doylestown Emergency Hospital. Delp died there an hour later from loss of blood and shock.

State Police of the Doylestown Barracks questioned Delp's companions and decided the shooting was purely accidental. No arrests were made. Dr. John J. Sweeney, county coroner, viewed the body and issued a burial permit.

Delp is survived by his widow and two children.

The Berner boy was killed in an unusual accident early last evening while returning home from a hunting trip with his uncle, William Humphreys, of Fullerton. On the return trip Humphreys placed his old single-barrel shotgun on the front seat beside him and left it cocked. His nephew was in the rear seat with the game they had shot.

As Humphreys was driving near Coopersburg his machine struck a hole in the highway, and the weapon was discharged. A load of shot entered young Berner's neck, killing him instantly. Dr. Sweeney viewed the body and had it removed to a morgue at Coopersburg.

Doylestown State Police investigated but made no arrests pending a further probe today. Police declare that Humphreys's weapon was of an old type and was easily discharged.

Cannon was fatally hurt, one companion was seriously injured, and another was shaken up last night while returning home from a gunning trip in Bucks County, when their car was struck by a hit-and-run driver on the Lackawanna Trail, about a mile and a half north of Willow Grove.

Cannon, a meat dealer, was injured about the head and died a short time later of a fractured skull in the Abington Memorial Hospital. Frank Noe, 38 years old, of 2322 North 30th street, Philadelphia, a passenger in the car, received abrasions and lacerations and internal injuries. He is being held under observation in the same hospital. Joseph Sasska, Jr., 31 years old, of 436 West Dauphin street, Philadelphia, driver of the car, escaped with a shaking up.

The accident occurred when Cannon's machine was sideswiped by a hit-and-run driver near the Reading bridge of the Trenton Cut-off at about 8.30 o'clock. Sasska told Upper Merion Township police that the collision caused him to lose control of the car and he crashed into a pole.

Two Morrisville sportsmen were injured late yesterday afternoon when an automobile in which they were riding skidded on the River Road near Yardley and turned over in a ditch. Charles Bristenback, of Moreau street, received lacerations of the upper lip and hand. He was the operator of the car. Robert White, of 212 Palmer street, was cut about the head and received brush burns. Both were treated at Mercer Hospital.

Early last night Harrisburg, Pa., authorities reported four persons killed and at least eight wounded during the day. Officials estimated more than 200,000 were in the field.

THE PROFESSOR'S LADY

The urge of a scientific age to reduce all sorts of things to formula has assuredly attained the ultimate, we think, in a chart of women's charms prepared by (of all people) a professor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Where poet and lover and genius and scholar through the ages—and even Fannie Hurst—failed in their efforts to approximate a description of woman's loveliness our sage of Massachusetts not only describes that pleasant mystery but takes it apart and puts a number beside each catalogued fragment of the whole.

Perhaps the less said about such things the better, and while we shall not say very much about it, here are the salient features:

Twenty points, the highest rating of all for any single attribute, an average weight for height and age.

Ten points for perfection in each of the following: Skin, feet and health.

Five points for excellence in each of these particulars: Hair, eyes, mouth, teeth, hands, posture, hearing, vision and clothing.

Three points for harmony of movement.

Two points for good lines and grace, while seated.

Thus our professor's perfect woman, and whether it all adds up to one hundred or not can't make a great deal of difference. For what lover will gaze into his darling's eyes and with pencil and paper and chart in hand murmur, My dear you only add up to sixty-two?

If he does we think he will get what's coming to him, and deserve it, too.

EARLY REFLEXES

Some 30 years ago there were intelligent young mothers who let baby cry himself out after making sure there were no loose pins about. They did not know that they were collaborating with the great Russian physiologist Pavlov in establishing the truth of conditioned reflexes, but so it now appears.

To spoil a child is to endow it with conditioned reflexes, according to an address by a prominent medical man. The conditioning may begin at the early age of two weeks. "The infant cries and immediately afterward receives some treatment he enjoys, such as being taken up, being rocked, or being carried about. The infant memorizes a sequence of events. He learns to put forward the cry to earn its just and due payment."

A teacher isn't an old maid until she makes the kids suffer by reading their intercepted love notes to the school.

HIGH JAYVEES ROMP
TO A 19 TO 0 VICTORY

(By Jack Orr)

Showing unexpected power and deception, the Bristol High Jayvees romped to a 19-0 victory over St. Ann's School yesterday afternoon. The contest was played on the high school gridiron.

Coach "Tom" Cole's eleven started early in the fray and showed the St. Ann's club many tricks out of the Cardinal and Gray bag.

After the opening kick-off the Purple and Gold held the high school gridriders and they were forced to punt. Bauroth kicked to the ten-yard marker where a costly fumble was recovered by Gulletto of the Bristol eleven.

After holding the high school club on the St. Ann's 10-yard line, the proteges of "Pete" Borinice weakened on the last down to let "Tony" Orazi scamper over for a touchdown. Bauroth place-kicked the extra point.

The rest of the half was scoreless, although the St. Ann's club threw a scare into the Bristol rooters by starting a touchdown drive late in the second period. An aerial attack, featured by a twelve-yard gain, Marino to Sagolla, was finally stopped when a pair of passes were knocked down by the Cardinal and Gray defense.

The high school lads kept up their splendid work by counting again in the third and fourth periods. Fine blocking and great tackling were featured this half by the Bristol eleven. Quarterback Harry Bauroth topped off both drives for touchdowns by taking the pigskin across each time.

The linemen of the Cardinal and Gray who stood out on both offensive and defensive, were: Captain "Hink" Hinman, "Mel" Fry and "Carm" Gulletto.

The flashy open field running of "Frankie" Jenco for the Purple and Gold seemed to be the main offense of this club.

Ten first downs were garnered by the J. V. eleven to a quartet for the St. Ann's team.

On Saturday the scrappy Langhorne club will be the varsity competition. Kick-off, 2:15.

PEOPLE OF PENNSYLVANIA

In the Election on Tuesday next, you will exercise that Right which is the sole safeguard of all your personal independence, of all your political liberties, and of all your material possessions . . .

A sacred Right conferred to your keeping by the sacrifice of countless lives, and derived directly out of those outstanding events of American history which were initiated, moulded, materialized

Here in Pennsylvania

You will be called upon not only to choose between the characters and qualifications of the contending candidates, but in so doing you will have to settle questions which reach directly to your businesses, your jobs, and your homes, and which go to the very fundamentals of the American form of government.

The Democratic candidate for U. S. Senator, and the Democratic candidate for Governor, advancing no reasons of experience, ability or personal fitness for the important offices to which they aspire, are asking your support wholly upon the ground that they themselves are not the actual candidates of their party, but that a single individual in Washington, not a resident of this State, is running for every office in Pennsylvania in this Election.

If that is true, American liberty and representative government are not disappearing — THEY ARE ALREADY GONE

Further, they not only endorse all Brain Trust experiments that have been made to date, with their colossal costs and their unparalleled discriminations against this State, but they pledge an advance and unquestioning approval of all projects which may be launched, irrespective of what their effects might be upon the people of Pennsylvania. What does that mean?

Well, here's a measuring rod. Out of PWA, CWA, AAA and Federal Relief, the official figures show that for the first fiscal year of the present Administration, the little southern State of Arkansas received 26 times what Pennsylvania received, based upon what each contributed to the common fund from which all these expenditures must be paid. Arizona and South Dakota each received 28 times what Pennsylvania got, while Mississippi's ratio was 29 times as much.

As a matter of fact, a round dozen of States — all in the special-benefit sections of the South and West — averaged 21 times the allotments Pennsylvania received.

Take just one more of the many illustrations that might be cited. During the first year of the present Administration, the Federal Government gave to ten Southern States from 91.9% to 99.9% of their total relief requirements, yet haggled, badgered and browbeat Pennsylvania, to which it allotted less than half the ratio given to each of those ten States.

You know, of course, that food is costing you from 50% to 100% more than it did a year ago — at a substantial loss, rather than any benefit, to our own farmers — directly the result of a heretofore unheard-of program of destroying the necessities of life when millions of our people are in want. But do you realize that, wholly in addition to this increased burden, the expenditures of this Administration during its first 18 months have imposed a debt of a thousand million dollars upon Pennsylvania alone? A debt that must be paid, directly and indirectly, by every individual and every family in this State.

These are the kinds of discrimination that are being practiced against the people of Pennsylvania — and are applauded by the Democratic candidates in this State — in a program which, according to the impartial figures of the League of Nations, has left the United States lagging behind every other major country, in the degree of recovery that has been achieved.

The Republican Party in Pennsylvania

Ready to support all sound policies that will promote REAL RECOVERY . . .

But opposing these discriminations which are sapping the earnings, investments and wage funds out of this State, to be given away for political purposes elsewhere . . .

And standing squarely and uncompromisingly for home rule within Pennsylvania, by Pennsylvanians, for Pennsylvanians . . .

Offers you — upon its record of past achievements and its platform for future advancement — candidates of
